

- Fever had an irregular course and the temperature changes were caused by the appearance of the new foci of inflammation in the pulmonary tissue.
- Fever has been persisting for two weeks and had been decreasing gradually.