The start-up team needs to have the leadership, market and operational skills necessary to execute the plan. They're different than management teams in that: They expect to work day and night, seven days a week

🎧 interview