

Colored Coins

- An organization arbitrarily chooses some bitcoins and declares that ownership of those coins implies ownership of some real-world asset (probably coins they own)
 - Could represent stock in a company
 - Could represent land ownership or car ownership
- Ownership is tracked as they are transacted
 - Issuer makes special rules for mixed-color inputs