

We face challenges in biodiversity

- Human actions have driven many species extinct, and biodiversity is declining dramatically

Biodiversity loss may be our biggest environmental problem; once a species is extinct, it is gone forever