

The company envisions Jetson TK1 being used for “compute-intensive systems for computer vision, robotics, medicine, and more.”