

Here's What You Should Watch

Over the Short-Term

- ExOne is expected to report a loss of $0.05 per share.
- The company expects revenues to clock in at $18.5 million.
- For the next fiscal year, expectations are set for $61.8 million in sales and a loss of $0.41 per share.

Over the Long-Term

- ExOne is focused on winning over customers by offering 3-D printing services, dubbed ExCast. This division grew by 40% over the first nine months of 2014—look to see if that growth continued.
- ExOne has been burned on the market in the past because the shipment of one or two printers has been delayed. Listen in to hear management's full-year guidance to help get a better view for the company's growth trajectory...minus all the lumpiness.

