

10: LACK OF REAL MAILBOXES

- Walking to get the mail just got more complicated. It is not at the end of your driveway in most cases. Its down the street, take a left, then a right, and cross the street. Inevitably there will be a strange car parked there picking up their mail, too. It takes some getting used to, but at least you know if any pets are missing or if someone is having a garage sale (which are only allowed to operate before noon, FYI).
