

Why does this matter?

“Storytelling ecosystems are vitally important because they drive both breadth of reach and engagement with and between users. And reach and engagement are essential to building brands, impact, community, revenue, and overall growth.”

