

Influence of digitalization and new technologies on all spheres of modern human life

Modern digital technologies provide new tools for the development of universities and other educational institutions around the world. Digitalization provides opportunities for exchange of experiences and knowledge that allows people to learn more and make better decisions in their daily lives.

Additional directions of application of digital technologies in education — the development of digital libraries and digital campuses of universities, which are already implemented by many universities in America, Europe and Russia.

