

To end on a cheerful note...

“Toxoplasma gondii is the most common protozoan parasite in developed nations. Up to 80% of the population may be infected, depending on eating habits and exposure to cats.”

“When infected human adults were compared with uninfected adults on personality questionnaires or on a panel of behavioral tests, several differences were found.”

Source:

<http://schizophreniabulletin.oxfordjournals.org/content/33/3/757.full>