

The most important factor in developing good judgment (and anticipating problems) is getting in the habit of thinking ahead and playing out the likely sequence of moves and countermoves before making a move.