

A close-up photograph of a snowflake orchid (Corydalis flexuosa) growing through a layer of snow. The plant has several green, upright stems. One stem has two large, white, bell-shaped flowers with a subtle pinkish hue. Another stem has a smaller, yellowish flower. The background is a textured surface of snow and dark, mossy ground.

Спасибо
за внимание!