

They were not politicians, they were not thinking about anything except protecting their homes.

